Service Children's Progression

Overview of SCiP Alliance

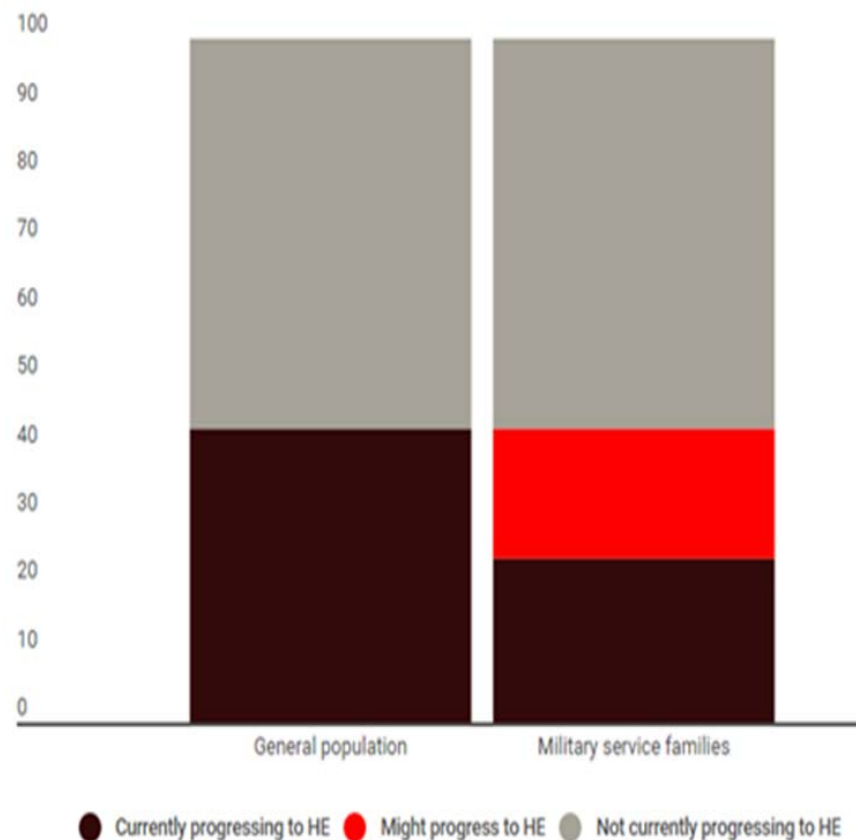

The SCiP Alliance bring people together to improve educational outcomes for children from military families so that they can make informed and confident transitions through further and higher education into thriving adult lives and careers.

The key point

It is in the realm of up to 4 out of 10 who, if in the general population would go to university, do not go if they are a service child.

Practice

It is only what we do differently that will deliver different outcomes

Research

We need to understand the service child's journey and how to improve it

Policy

We influence policy, so that it supports our work for service children

An Alliance Needs Allies

We want to ensure that:

- Practitioners are actively engaged with the Alliance and are championing the progression of children of military personnel
- The Alliance and its online hub provide one 'go to' source of information and support for practitioners
- Service children are included in the basket of indicators targeted by HE/FE providers
- Research is supported and translated into carefully evaluated practice

SCiP Alliance Hubs – Allies in Action

Local

- Local hubs for local solutions
- Build relationships with key partners
- Share effective practice, common challenges, new ideas, and achievements

National

- Contribute to national priorities and practice
- Influence national (and UK-wide) policy
- Engage in new projects and research

Highlights:

- Office for Students have confirmed Military Service Children as a target group
- Working with UCAS to support applications
- Creative Forces Days – universities offering campus visits to local MSC
- Producing research briefing papers to support practitioners
- NCOP/SCiP collaboration project – producing framework and guidance for schools

Discussion

- What one practical resource/opportunity would make the biggest difference to your ability to effectively support service children's success?
- What one answered (research) question would make the biggest difference to your ability to effectively support service children's success?
- What one system change would make the biggest difference to your ability to effectively support service children's success?
