

THE NEED

WHAT NEEDS TO CHANGE

The children of armed forces personnel have huge potential, but are at risk of underachieving and too few practitioners are equipped and confident to support them.

OUR RESPONSE

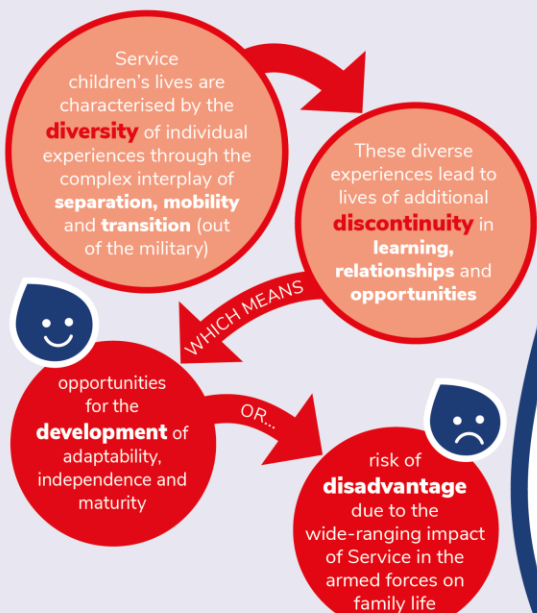

HOW CHANGE HAPPENS

We help researchers, policymakers and practitioners work more effectively together to target evidence-based support at identified needs in a coherent system

THE OUTCOMES

THE CHANGE THAT RESULTS

The scale and quality of support for Service children grows and they have the ambition, skills, and opportunities to make the most of their unique talents and experiences

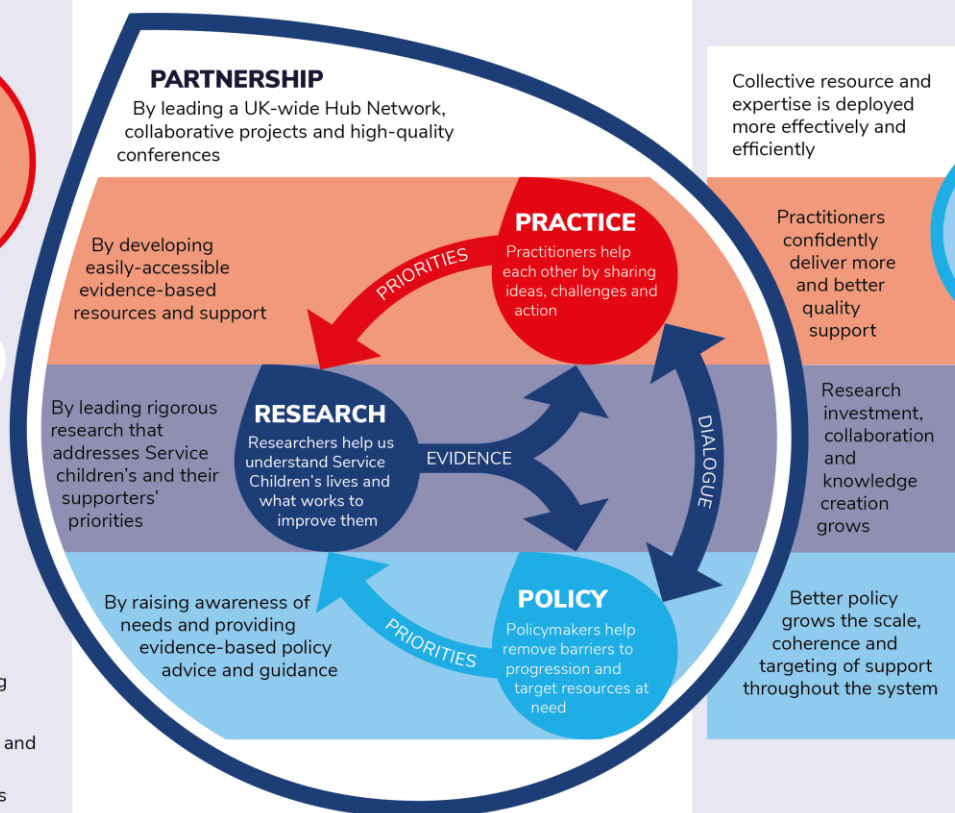

For example, Service children

- Are less likely to access higher education
- May attain less well, if they move school a lot
- Can experience considerable social and emotional disruption impacting their mental health and wellbeing

And most professionals in schools, colleges, universities and other organisations:

- Have low awareness of Service children and their lives
- Do not access evidence-based resources and support
- Do not feel confident about providing the right support

THE IMPACT

Service children want to, know how to and are able to realise ambitious future careers and lives

Service children access more coherent learning journeys and development opportunities

Service children can make informed and confident transitions through further and higher education into thriving lives
