

Wherever Home Is...

An Invisible Man Theatre Company created Wherever Home Is under commission from North Yorkshire County Council, supported initially by funding from the MOD's Education Support Fund.

Over 100 conversations with children of service personnel, their parents, teachers and with school support professionals took place between February and April 2015 and from these conversations came the narratives that went on to form the play, for KS2 children, Wherever Home Is.

The play is about how we deal with change, the play is about feeling safe, the play is about resilience.

The production takes an overdue and welcome look at the unique reality of living a service family life, but it is not exclusively "for" service children. The play is about change and how any of us, civilian or service families, cope with and build resilience in the face of, often very trying, changes in our lives.

Testimonial:

Exceptionally well planned and organised. The way it worked with first part of the play and then workshop sessions, linking this into second act ... therefore included pupil voice and thoroughly engaged pupils. I can't speak highly enough of the whole project – thank you"
